

The Kingdom of God

1. Write the words “Kingdom of God” on the board. Remind them of the meaning of this term by reading aloud the definition in their texts.
2. Brainstorm with the children what a world of peace, love, and justice would look like. As they respond, jot down their responses by creating a word Web around the central term “Kingdom of God.”
3. Then distribute art paper and crayons or markers and invite the children to draw one thing the Kingdom of God will be like.
4. Invite volunteers to share their drawings.
5. If time permits, you could invite small groups of children to act out some of their examples that they have drawn.
